FUNDAMENTAL NEWS:

MCX Gold Dec Contract moved in mixed trend last week. It had opened at 26688 level & made weekly high of 27310 level. But it could not sustain on high & closed 1.14% down at 26964 level. Both precious metal got support from FED dovish monetary policy statement from a couple of FED members in September meeting. The big surge for the week to 27310 level took place after U.S. reported weak durables goods data. But later on Friday, bullions got pressure from Yellen anticipated statement of chances of increment in Interest rate in FED Dec meeting & also U.S. GDP which came positive & triggered a rally in U.S. Dollar Index. For next week, we could see further upward movement in Gold Oct contract under the influence of important U.S. data like ADP Non-Farm Employment change & Non-Farm Employment Change.

Gold Dec contract having support near 26600 to 26500 level. Below 26500, next support is near 26100 & 25750 level.
